Annual Conference Wrap-Up

The 2019 Holston Annual Conference met Sunday through Wednesday, and our congregation was represented by pastors Jonathan Jonas and Roy Hull, and also by lay members Ron Crockett, Tom and Donna Fowlkes, and Steve and Tracey Hawkins. Please speak with any of them if you have questions or want to know more.

The primary agenda of the conference was to elect Holston's representatives to the 2020 General Conference, the official policy-making body of the United Methodist Church. Over four days, the conference elected twelve lay people and twelve clergy members to represent us in next year's general and jurisdictional conferences. Learn more about them on the conference website at holston.org.

Jonathan Jonas and Roy Hull were reappointed to State Street UMC for another year, from July 1, 2019 to June 30, 2020. Since our district superintendent, the Rev. Sandra Johnson, has reached her term limit, Bishop Mary Virginia Taylor has appointed our former associate pastor, the Rev. Jane Taylor, to be the new superintendent of the Clinch Mountain District as of July 1.
